

Eco-rating of Russian regions 2010

September 2010, All-Russian Non-Governmental Organization Green Patrol issued a new eco-rating of Russia's regions.

The rating, launched in 2008, is based on the analysis of information materials from the open sources, such as mass media, federal and regional authorities, public organizations. Green Patrol specialists evaluated the regions' current state of ecosphere (protection of the environment), sociosphere (protection and improvement of people's health and living environment) and technosphere (state and development of industry in compliance with the requirements for ecological safety). Each of the 3 indexes mentioned above include assessment of the whole range of factors: atmosphere, water, land and bioresources, information and psychological climate, culture and education, government and law, industrial environment, science and technology, etc.

Belgorod Region tops the eco-rating with the highest consolidated index of 66 points (75-100 points category remained vacant). Top 10 of the most environmentally sound Russia's regions also includes Altai Republic, Republic of Tyva, Kabardino-Balkar Republic, Altai Region, Republic of Buryatia, Tomsk, Kursk, Pskov and Tambov Regions.
